Wondering how to support Christ College?

We'd love help to keep providing our students with places to live!

Clarence House (affectionately known as “The Block”) is the block of units next door to Christ College that affords students the opportunity to live nearby. This is especially helpful for students and their families who relocate from outside Sydney as it provides them with a place to stay as well as a supportive and caring community.

If you are interested in furthering God's work at Christ College by helping us to provide accommodation for our students, tax deductible donations can be made to the Building Fund. Please see over the page for details on how to make a donation.

What's it like living in The Block?

"Having the opportunity to live close to college has been immensely helpful to me and my family. Moving to Sydney from country NSW with small children has many challenges and the lack of a daily commute was one less thing for our family to adjust to. It has been great to have a supportive network in the same building as we prepare for a future in pastoral ministry and I look forward to continuing to grow those friendships after college has finished. Having a growing student population close to college has enabled us to invest more in the college community than would have been otherwise possible which is of benefit to more than just the residents of The Block" DAVE HAYES
